Aim

- I can use 'an' or 'a' correctly.

Success Criteria

- I can tell you what a vowel or consonant is.
- I can identify words beginning with a vowel or consonant.
- I can explain the rule for using 'an'.
- I can write independently using 'an' or 'a' correctly.

Introductory Activity

Using 'An' or 'A'

Can you write 6 consonants on your whiteboard in 10 seconds?

How do you know that they are consonants?

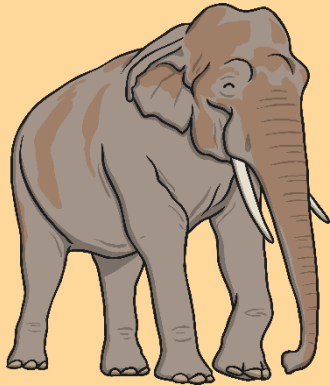

Consonants are letters (or sounds) that are not vowels (a, e, i, o, u).
For example j, d and z are all consonants.

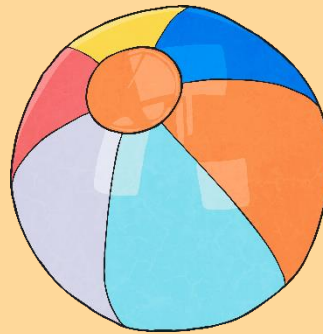

Using 'An' or 'A'

Play the odd one out activity.

As a class use 'an' or 'a' to find the odd one out.

elephant

ball

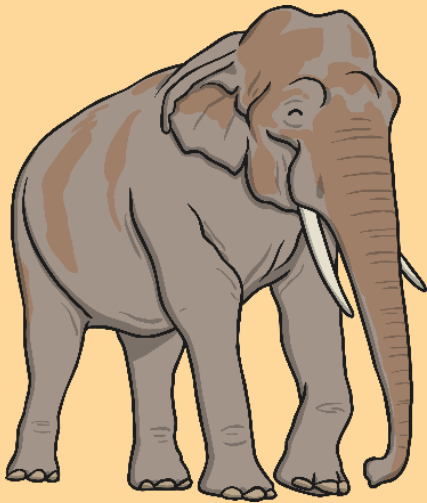

hat

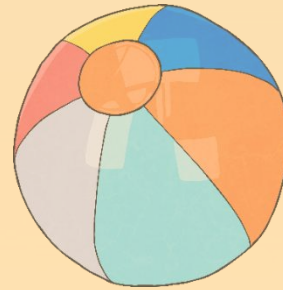

Using 'An' or 'A'

The odd one out was...

an elephant

a ball

a hat

Using 'An' or 'A'

Play the odd one out activity.

With your partner use 'an' or 'a' to find the odd one out.

umbrella

unicycle

umpire

Using 'An' or 'A'

The odd one out was...

an umbrella

A unicycle is difficult to ride.

Although unicycle begins with a vowel, the sound is not a vowel sound. The 'u' makes a 'y' sound.

a unicycle

an umpire

Can you write a rule about using 'an' or 'a' on a whiteboard?

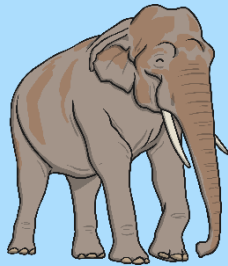

Using 'An' or 'A'

Your rule about using 'an' or 'a' should sound like this:

Use 'an' before a word that starts with a vowel sound.

For example:

an elephant

an umbrella

an hour – 'hour' does not start with a vowel (a, e, i, o or u) but it does start with a vowel sound.

an hour because the 'h' is silent. Tricky!

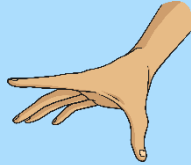

Using 'An' or 'A'

Look at these words below and decide whether 'an' or 'a' should be used beforehand.

apple

hand

cat

hour

eagle

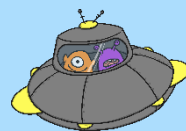

umbrella

dog

chair

UFO

Review Activity

What Will You Bring?

This is a memory game which uses 'an' and 'a' all the way through. Listen out to see if the children in your group use 'an' or 'a' correctly.

Instructions:

Person 1

On my holiday I will bring...

A pair of sunglasses.

Person 2

On my holiday I will bring...

A pair of sunglasses and a hat.

Person 3

On my holiday I will bring...

A pair of sunglasses, a hat and an ice cold drink. (1 point)

For every person that thinks of an 'an' word, they win a point. You need to remember every item that has been said before you, in the correct order. Good luck!
